Job Jeng, LMT

Massage Therapist MA70038466

(He/Him)

Job's interest in bodywork began early, when he discovered the power of simple touch to ease pain. A childhood memory of learning the hoku point—a spot between the thumb and index finger that can reduce discomfort and pain — sparked his lifelong curiosity about the body's ability to heal itself.

Today, he brings that same curiosity and care into his massage practice, blending Swedish massage, myofascial release, and neuromuscular techniques. His sessions are tailored to each client's needs, with a focus on helping people manage chronic pain and recover from injury in a holistic, drug-free way.

Outside of massage, Job enjoys the outdoors, improv, and cooking.
